GIRL AIDS IN RESCUE

Two firemen-Lieut Frank Gibbs and Private W. H. Lacy, and a girl. Miss Amy Rosson, made spectacular rescues of three women from the Geneya apartment house, Seventeenth and U streets northwest, last night, when he threatened to destroy the

Today the three rescued women are in their homes in their apartments in the Geneva recovering from the effects of the smoke. The three women, Miss Katherine Murphy, apartment No. 7; Mrs. William Davis, apartment No. 5, and Mrs. E. P. Holloway, apartment No. 2, were trapped in their apartments when fire start ing in the cellar spread rapidly. It was not until the fire gained con-siderable headway that these three women discovered their danger.

Mrs. Holloway was the first person escued. Her apartment is just above the room in which the fire originated. Mine Amy Rosson, who lives at 1640 Sixth street northwest, was passing the apartment and discovered the smoke coming from the cellar windows. She turned in a fire alarm, and returned to the apartment to warn the occupants. Mrs. Holloway was unable to walk to the street and Miss Rosson entered her spartment and carried her out through the smoke alled corridor.

The second rescue was made after he firemen arrived. Lisut. Frank Gibbs, of No. 1 Engine House, in amswer to the ories of Miss Katherine furphy, on the fourth floor of the apartment, fought his way through make to Miss Murphy's apartment. Miss Murphy, who had been ill. was snable to walk and Lieutenant Gibbs sarried her down four flights of steps, brough the dense smoke. Gibbs himself was almost overcome.

Calls From Window. The third rescue was made by W. E. Lagy, also of No. 1 Engine House. Mrs. William B. Davis, who was on a third floor apartment, called out of her bedroom window to the fireman on the street below. Lacy fought his way to Mrs. Davis' apartment and ograted her to the street. The fire started about $ o'clock. At the time of the fire the janitor can not in the building; and as yet the cause has not been determined.

Declination in production coupled with a general business conservatism throughout the country is paving the way for lower prices. The new con-dition has converted a sellers' market into a buyers' market, according to announcement by the Federal Reserve

In a resume of business conditions broughout the country, the board has sund a general tendency in prices to This has become marked since the first of the year, probably being given impetus by the afterholiday reaction, it was explained.

Await Settling Down. Alterations in the prices of raw materials has changed the direction in demand in the manufacturing field, the statement says. This combined with wholesale cancellation of Goverament contracts has caused manufacturing interests to await the "settling fown" process which the national business is about to undergo, the statement continued.

Disappointment is expressed over the fallure of export trade to develop premptly, but confidence still is felt hat export traffic will yet come into its own vigorously, according to the beard's view, Officials would make no coment on the effect the British embargo had had or was having on export trade. It was explained the British import restrictions could not be measured statistically at this time. Downward Tendency.

"During the early part of January." the statement adds, "there was a sharp downward tendency in many classes of prices. Notable among those were staple woolens, cottons, iron and steel, and finally in some classes of farm products. The movement toward price reduction is now fully under way. In many sections raw materials' buyers are holding off purchases in hope that lower prices
